- DIGITAL HOUSE's project: "Loop Station"
  - I made in group, a market place based on products related to music, made with the MVC pattern for better organization of files and tasks, use of a database with MySQL language to save users and products created on the page. Mainly HTML, CSS, EJS, and front-end JavaScript were used for the entire visual part of the page. JavaScript and Sequelize were also used for the back-end (for the connection with the database and its manipulation). Finally, APIs were used with the database data to feed endpoints, and with that a dashboard was developed with React, which contained database data.
